

Time to Strike Back Against Russia's Shadow War

Description

In CEPA's "Time to Strike Back Against Russia's Shadow War," Doug Livermore argues that the West must adopt a more aggressive strategy to counter Russia's hybrid attacks. Livermore suggests moving beyond passive responses to actively punishing and deterring Kremlin-directed sabotage, assassinations, and other forms of malfeasance. By supporting covert operations and intelligence sharing, the West can escalate pressure on Russia, demonstrating that further aggression will be met with significant consequences. The aim is to reestablish effective deterrence and protect Western interests and democratic values.
