

IW Lessons from Gaza: Lawfare, Humanitarian Crises, and Urban Combat

Description

Episode 93 of the Irregular Warfare Podcast examines irregular warfare in the Gaza Strip and Israel.

Our guests begin by delving into Hamas and its hybrid strategy in Gaza before addressing Israelâ??s traditional counterterrorism approach in the Middle East. They then discuss the risks associated with an invasion of Gaza, and the importance of addressing lawfare and humanitarian considerations head on. Finally, our guests conclude with recommendations about operating in urban terrain and navigating a complex geopolitical environment that may require the U.S. and its allies to relook its global force structure.

General \(ret.\) Joseph Votel is the current distinguished chair of West Pointâ??s Combating Terrorism Center. He is a retired Army Four-Star officer who, in his last active duty assignment, served as the Commander of U.S. Central Command. During his 39 years in the military, he commanded special operations and conventional military forces at every level.

Dr. Raphael Cohen is the director of the Strategy and Doctrine Program of RAND Project AIR FORCE, and a senior political scientist at the RAND Corporation. He works on a broad range of defense and foreign policy issues, including defense strategy and force planning, Middle East and European security, and civil-military relations. In 2017, Dr. Cohen and his colleagues published a report entitled, â??Lessons from Israelâ??s Wars in Gaza,â?• which serves as the anchor for todayâ??s conversation.
